WA Builders Excel on National Stage

Builders from Western Australia won a record 7 categories at this year's Master Builders national Housing and Construction Excellence Awards held in Canberra last Friday (16 November).

According to Master Builders WA Director, Michael McLean, it was the first time since these national awards have been presented about 15 years ago that WA has won more than 5 awards.

This is an incredible achievement by any measure and reflects the high quality of workmanship across the residential, commercial, and civil engineering sectors of our diverse industry, Mr. McLean said.

WA had winners in virtually all categories judged which is remarkable.

To be judged by your peers as the best in your state is a great achievement but to receive a national award really does vindicate your credentials as a Master Builder.

Each of the winning builders deserved their success and offered something special to their clients, Mr. McLean said.

This was a huge night of celebrations when the awards were announced in the Great Hall of Parliament House last Friday with a large and vocal group of WA builders in attendance.

The WA winners were:

- Young Builder of the Year: Chris Lillis (Cachet Homes)
- National Display Home under $250,000: Celebration Homes
- National Luxury Project Home $1M to $2M: Spadaccini Homes
- National Commercial Construction Award $10m to $20M: Crown Perth Sky Salon & Pool - PS Structures
- National Specialist Contractor of the Year: Castle Rock Granite Skywalk . Living Iron
- National President's Award: Devil Creek Development . John Holland
- National Residential Master Builder of the Year: Brian Burke Homes

Congratulations to everyone who contributed to the success of each of these projects, Mr. McLean concluded.
