Safety and Health Representative

5 day course

Safety and Health Representatives are important because it makes sense for employers and employees to talk to each other about safety at work. The experience and knowledge of employees can make a significant contribution to identifying and controlling hazards and risks, and developing preventative measures to address health and safety issues that arise at the workplace.

A Safety and Health Representative is the key to communication by making it easier to exchange ideas and concerns about safety between employers and employees. Safety and health representatives raise and discuss safety issues and concerns with employers and/or managers so they can work together and arrive at solutions to make the workplace safe.

On completion of this course, you should be able to: -

- Apply knowledge of legislation in the role of a Safety and Health Representative;
- Identify and locate information from a variety of sources;
- Identify and evaluate hazards in the workplace and recommend control methods;
- Conduct an effective inspection of their workplace;
- Conduct an effective investigation into workplace illness/injuries and accidents;
- Communicate on Safety and Health matters and represent employees;
- Describe the functions, make up and roles of Safety and Health Committee;
- Resolve conflict and issue Provisional Improvement Notices (PINs) when appropriate.

Upon successful completion of this course you will be issued with a Certificate of Attendance.
